

The Bradley Center

For Grieving Children & Families presents

A Clinical Seminar

“Help for Grieving Children & Families: What Works”

Friday, March 16, 2012
8:15 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

PRE-REGISTRATION REQUIRED

Cost: $75 if registered by Feb. 29
$85 if registered March 1-13

Approved By NASW-UT Chapter for 6 CEU
Credit Hours

Hosted by:
Primary Children’s Medical Center
100 Mario Capecchi Drive,
3rd Floor Auditorium

Continental breakfast and lunch included

Presentations Include

- Beth Cole, Ph.D, Dean, College of Nursing, Brigham Young University, “Chronic Illness v. Sudden Death: Similarities and Differences in Grief and Bereavement”
- Melissa Allen Heath, Ph.D, Dept. of Counseling Psychology and Special Ed, Brigham Young University, and Catherine Bergesen, doctoral candidate, “Supporting Bereaved Children with Bibliotherapy and Therapeutic Activities”
- Valerie Lambert, LCSW, CT; Stephen Moore, MSW, CSW; Carrie Moore, MS, Associate Clinical Chaplain; “Faith and The Grieving Process: The Bradley Center”

To register, contact
The Bradley Center at customerservice@bradleycentergrief.org or call us at 801-302-0220

Keynote speaker

Dr. Phyllis Silverman

Researcher, teacher and author whose primary interest is bereavement and how death is dealt with in our society. Co-principal investigator, Harvard/ MGH Child Bereavement Study.

Co-Author of the book

A Parents Guide to Raising Grieving Children:

Rebuilding your family after the death of a loved one